We look forward to gathering the National Trust Council for the first time with our Board of Trustees in Newport—a city defined by three centuries of history and a striking sense of place—for a special weekend celebrating the Campaign for America’s National Treasures. Newport’s stark cliffs, abundant heritage, and Gilded Age splendor will provide a stunning backdrop as we honor the passion, vision, and dedication of the philanthropists who stepped forward to support the Campaign and help us create a stronger, more united nation.

WEATHER: Average temperatures in October in Newport are in the low 60s during the day with evenings in the low 50s.

Touro Synagogue

IN ADDITION TO ITS EXQUISITE BEAUTY and design, steeped in history and ideals, National Trust Historic Site Touro Synagogue is a thankful result of one of the earliest preservation efforts in the United States. Dedicated in 1763, the synagogue was closed when all but seven of the city’s Jews were forced to leave during the British occupation of Newport in 1776. When the son of the synagogue’s original rabbi died in 1822, he left money to preserve the building in hopes that the building would be reopened. With the growth of its congregation, and after significant restoration, the site returned to service in the 1890s and stands today as an enduring symbol of religious freedom for all Americans.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 18

All times approximate; itinerary subject to change.

12:30–1:30 Office Hours at the Hotel Viking (Pelham Boardroom)
Since 1926, the iconic Hotel Viking has hosted nearly a century of celebrities and dignitaries with gracious hospitality and breathtaking views of Newport’s Bellevue Avenue. Questions about the weekend? Stop by and say hello to the team!

Afternoon Tour Options (Choose one of the following)
CASUAL ATTIRE, COMFORTABLE WALKING SHOES

1:30–4:00 Colonial Newport
Join award-winning architectural historian John Tschirch on a journey through colonial Newport. Visit Touro Synagogue, a National Trust Historic Site, and the Redwood Library and Athenaeum—both designed by Peter Harrison, who is credited as America’s first architect. Explore Trinity Church on Queen Anne Square and the Whitehorne House’s exquisite collection of Newport and Rhode Island furniture from the late 18th century—both lasting contributions of Doris Duke and the Newport Restoration Foundation to the preservation of Newport’s rich colonial heritage.

2:00–3:30 Hammersmith Farm
Visit Hammersmith Farm, the childhood home of Jacqueline Bouvier where she and Senator John F. Kennedy held their storybook 1953 wedding reception and, during his presidency, retreated to the “Summer White House.” The estate has been painstakingly restored to its original Victorian appearance by our hosts, Eaddo and Peter Kiernan.

2:00–4:00 Newport Gardens
Discover two of Newport’s lavish landscapes, including an exclusive look inside the private Blue Garden, a hortus conclusus, or secret garden, designed by Fredrick Law Olmsted Jr. from 1911-1913, and private home and garden of Bettie Pardee, Parterre.

5:30–7:30 Welcome Reception
BUSINESS CASUAL ATTIRE
Kick off our celebratory weekend with fellow Council members and the Boards of the National Trust.

7:30 Return to Hotel; Dinner on Your Own
FRIDAY » october 19

FIFTY YEARS AGO, heiress, philanthropist, and pioneering preservationist Doris Duke founded the Newport Restoration Foundation and championed one of the largest preservation efforts in American history. Her majestic Rough Point mansion, built by Frederick Vanderbilt in the late 19th century and purchased by her father three years before his death in 1925, was bequeathed to the Foundation upon her passing in 1993 and now serves as a public museum with an extensive collection of fine and decorative arts and a sprawling historic landscape with panoramic views of the Atlantic Ocean.

Rough Point

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19

All times approximate; itinerary subject to change.

CASUAL ATTIRE, COMFORTABLE WALKING SHOES

9:30–11:30 Morning Tour Options (Choose one of the following)

Doris Duke’s Rough Point
Experience Doris Duke’s art-filled Rough Point mansion, now owned and operated as a public museum by the Newport Restoration Foundation.

McKim, Mead & White
Join Paul Miller, curator of The Preservation Society of Newport County (PSNC) and author of Lost Newport, on a guided excursion of the Isaac Bell House and other early commissions from the firm that would define the signature look of America’s Gilded Age.

12:00–2:00 Lunch at The Breakers Stables & Carriage House
Enjoy lunch at The Breakers Stable & Carriage House, a property of PSNC. The 1895 stables were designed by Breakers architect, Richard Morris Hunt, to house coaches, 28 horses, and their grooms during the family’s time in Newport.

Afternoon Tour Options (Choose one of the following)

2:15–4:15 Vanderbilt “Cottages” with PSNC
Explore the “summer cottages” of the Vanderbilt family, including two late masterworks of American Institute of Architects founder Richard Morris Hunt: Marble House and the Beaux-Arts Breakers.

2:15–6:00 Free Time/Explore Newport on Your Own
Take the afternoon to discover all that Newport has to offer—by sea for a perspective that can only be captured by harbor tour, or journey by foot along the famed Newport Cliff Walk. For more suggestions, see page 12.

6:30–8:00 Reception at Rockcliff, home of Ann and Samuel Mencoff

COCKTAIL ATTIRE

Gather with the National Trust Board of Trustees at the home of fellow National Trust Council members, Ann and Samuel Mencoff. Designed by society architect George Mason, Jr. for T.F. Cushing in 1887, the Tudor style mansion was described in the New York Times as “one of the handsomest of the fashionable residences” in Newport.

8:00 Return to Hotel; Dinner on Your Own (Recommendations on page 12)
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20

All times approximate; itinerary subject to change.
CASUAL ATTIRE, COMFORTABLE WALKING SHOES

9:30–11:30 Morning in Matunuck
Venture to the Barn at Weeden Farm, headquarters of the South Kingstown Land Trust, and follow storyteller and filmmaker Marc Levitt on the journey behind his Stories in Stones documentary about the Narragansett Tribal stonemasons whose picturesque stone walls have defined the woods and hills of southern New England for more than four centuries.
Fellow Council member Ken Woodcock will host us for a special tour of the Hale House, painstakingly restored to its original appearance and beloved place in the local arts community, as well as the Center for the Study of Hale Family Art, Ken’s private collection of art created by the Hale family and other local artists, housed in a purpose-built gallery building nestled near the Woodcock summer home, less than a mile from Hale House.

12:30–2:30 Lunch at The Dunes Club
Enjoy lunch with the National Trust Board as guests of Dottie and Ken Woodcock at the National Register listed Dunes Club overlooking Narragansett Bay. Built in 1939, the Dunes Club’s expansive Colonial Revival clubhouse replaced the original structure which was washed away by the New England Hurricane of 1938.

2:30–3:00 Return to Newport

3:00–5:00 Free Time

5:30 Cocktail Reception & Dinner: the Campaign for America’s National Treasures Celebration at the home of Ron Fleming, Bellevue House
FALL GARDEN COCKTAIL ATTIRE; OUTSIDE EVENT, PLEASE DRESS ACCORDINGLY
Join the National Trust Board of Trustees for our Campaign Celebration at Bellevue House, home of preservation pioneer and fellow National Trust Council member Ron Fleming, to mark the important milestone celebrating all we have achieved through the success and your support of the Campaign for America’s National Treasures.

Hale House
COMMISSIONED IN 1873 as a summer home for “The Man Without a Country” author Edward Everett Hale and his family of artists and writers, Hale House was an anchor for the Matunuck art colony for the late 19th and early 20th centuries. In 2006, the Pettaquamscutt Historical Society acquired the historic home from Fellow National Trust Council members and Trustee Emeriti Ken and Dottie Woodcock, through whose passion and generosity the house was renovated and restored to now serve the community as a historic site and cultural center under the stewardship of the South Kingstown Land Trust.

The Hotel Viking

The Hotel Viking was opened in 1926 to accommodate guests of the famous Newport “400” families during the lavish summer season and has hosted a who’s-who of events and high-profile guests throughout the years, including President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy, the Astors and the Vanderbilts, as well as military leaders and international dignitaries. The Hotel Viking is currently listed on the National Register of Historic Places and is also a prestigious member of Historic Hotels of America.
NEWPORT » a historical overview

28,000 BC
Narragansett Bay is named for tribal descendants of Rhode Island’s first human inhabitants, who settled the region and much of New England more than 30,000 years before their first European contact with Italian explorer Giovanni da Verrazano in 1524.

MID-LATE 1600s
Founded under groundbreaking American principles of religious liberty in 1639, Newport quickly grew as a beacon of tolerance and opportunity for many religious sects who risked persecution in Europe and the nearby Massachusetts Bay Colony. By the time of the American Revolution, the community had grown to a major port city with congregations of Anglicans, Quakers, Jews, Seventh Day Adventists, and Baptists.

EARLY 1900s
Although Newport was a summer retreat for wealthy southern planters as early as the mid-1800s, the opulent summer cottages of the Gilded Age captured the American memory with new standards of luxury and recreation immortalized in society columns and the likes of Edith Wharton’s 1920 novel, The Age of Innocence.

MID-LATE 1900s
By the 1960s, closures and relocations of nearby Naval installations had taken a crippling toll on Newport’s local economy. As city officials worked to revitalize the city’s downtown area, local leaders like Doris Duke, and Katherine and George Warren, rallied support to preserve the community’s rich historic character, creating the thriving, definitive cultural heritage destination we know and enjoy today.

2018
In October 2018, Newport, a city shaped and defined by centuries of vision, ideals, and grassroots preservation, will host the National Trust for Historic Preservation’s National Trust Council and Board of Trustees to celebrate the success, accomplishment, and remarkable impact of their leadership and support through the $200 million Campaign for America’s National Treasures.

LOCAL PRESERVATION
The Preservation Society of Newport County
Founded in 1945 by Katherine Warren, The Preservation Society of Newport County works to protect, preserve, and present an exceptional collection of 11 house museums and landscapes in one of the most historically intact cities in America. Today, the private, non-profit organization is the largest and most-visited cultural organization in Rhode Island.

Newport Restoration Foundation
Founded by Doris Duke in 1968, the Newport Restoration Foundation promotes and invests in the architectural heritage of the Newport community, the traditional building trades, and Doris Duke’s fine and decorative arts collections. Today, the foundation boasts the largest collection of vernacular architecture in the Northeastern United States.
